He is regularly sought out for his climbing and skiing expertise and is one of the world’s leading high-altitude mountaineer experts. He has also been featured in several documentaries via the Discovery Channel, Smithsonian, NBC, DatelineNBC, CBS, ABC, FOX, and CNN.

In his captivating keynote, the mountains are metaphors for life and business. Everyone has metaphorical summits they are aiming to reach. As an organization or company, how do you determine when the risks of pursuing a project outweigh the benefits? How do you handle adversity that comes with storms – failed projects, bad economy, unhappy clients, and more?

He’ll share philosophies, and stories of his awe-inspiring journey through the adversity he’s faced in his professional climbing career, and leave you with tools to help you stay focused, motivated, and inspired to live your best “Everest Ready” life.
